

JUST AFTER THE CONFERENCE, A VERY SPECIAL SATURDAY EXCURSION, on Saturday, September 6, 2008

A UNIQUE OPPORTUNITY TO VISIT THE TOP OF EUROPE / JUNGFRAUJOCH (3'450 m / 11'320 ft above sea level)

Considering the venue where our 29th International SFOA Bürgenstock Meeting is held this year, Interlaken, it is our goal to allow you to discover the “top of Europe”. Consequently, and for conference participants only, we have organized this “off the official program Saturday Special”, on September 6, 2008: a day trip to what most will consider one of the best discoveries, a breathtaking journey by train from Interlaken to the Jungfraujoch, offering a spectacular view of the most beautiful mountain scenery, with a stop in the famous “North Wall of the Eiger”. On the way to the “Top of Europe”, we will have the opportunity to see the participants of the equally famous “Jungfrau Marathon” leaving on the same morning just in front of the Victoria-Jungfrau, where the conference is held.

Arriving at the Jungfraujoch around 10.30 AM the participants will have the opportunity to visit the Ice Palace, proceed to the platform of the terrace of the observatory, followed by a Champagne cocktail and lunch in one of the restaurants of this astonishing place. The always and ever regrettable “back to reality” will take place in the course of the afternoon which, as you certainly anticipate, will require you’re staying “one more night” before leaving this astounding place and find yourself “back to work”.

To get a first impression of what this trip offers, let us lead you to the following Internet site:

As you understood in reading the above, the number of participants is strictly limited and therefore need prior registration and payment to be considered valid and confirmed. To be even more “blunt and to the point”.....register and pay now since otherwise you might be left in the valley, missing one of the most fantastic sceneries in the world.

For conditions and registration, please refer to the attached.
